Overview of Private Equity Fund

What is private equity?
Private equity is an asset class that covers investments primarily in unlisted companies and assets at various stages of their development. The term is used to describe investments ranging from start up capital, venture capital, later stage expansion capital, leveraged buyout, management buyout, distressed investment and others. Private equity funds businesses to enable them to commercialise a new technology, idea or innovation, and to accelerate venture growth. For example, a number of successful technology companies like Google, Yahoo, Microsoft, Compaq, and Apple in the US were funded by venture capitalists in their early years. In Malaysia, successful private equity backed companies such as AirAsia Bhd, Green Packet Bhd, ETI Technologies Bhd, Jobstreet.com Bhd and Stemlife Bhd are among the more successful ones. In addition, private equity may seize the opportunities to invest in potential companies prior to listing on a stock exchange or a sale to a trade buyer.

Overview of the Firm

The Management Company

Ingenious Haus ("Ingenious") is a boutique corporate advisory & private equity firm based in Kuala Lumpur & Singapore. Established in 2004, Ingenious is a registered venture capital management corporation under the purview of Securities Commission of Malaysia. Its strong client focus, disciplined investment processes and commitment to deliver results, has enabled it to assist entrepreneurs in developing strategies to deal with challenges of the business environment today. With a large network of investors, co-investors, and business leaders, Ingenious empowers entrepreneurs with both financial and intellectual capital to transform emerging companies into world class corporations. Recognising this, the Malaysian Chinese Association through its MCA ICT Resources Center, appointed Ingenious to establish MIRC Ingenious Capital Partners to manage a venture capital fund to invest in emerging technology companies.

The Opportunity: V Telecoms Berhad

Vision
To connect every business through Ethernet.

Mission
Redefining telecommunications by providing a better, faster, cost effective and scalable network that will empower business communities to achieve higher productivity and profitability.

About V Telecoms
V Telecoms Berhad ("V Telecoms") is a telecommunication company that provides high bandwidth connectivity to businesses and homes. V Telecoms intends to raise expansion capital of RM50 million to finance the implementation of its Metro-Ethernet ("Metro-E") network expansion to selected areas covering 20,000 connections to offices and subsequently growing to 50,000 connections to homes and offices within the next five years.

V Telecoms has the country’s 1st Nationwide Optical Metro-E Network, which runs Next Generation Carrier-Class Network over fibre-optic infrastructure. Optical Metro-E is the latest advancement in network technology, where it enhances capacity and flexibility resulting in very competitive network services. V Telecoms is licensed by the government to provide network facilities and services. Being a network telco, V Telecoms is involved in a very lucrative yet highly protected industry, where the only competitors are the incumbent telco and another semi-government owned company. The high barrier of entry enables V Telecoms to expand rapidly over the last 2 years. V Telecoms clients ranges from multi-national corporations (MNCs), the banking sector, large corporations, institutions, ISPs and government sector.

V Telecoms' business model provides consistent free, and positive free cash flow since it started in 2002.

V Telecoms has recently been accorded the ISO9001:2008 certification for its business by Bureau Veritas. Although considered a new comer in the network-telco business, V Telecoms has been generally in the ICT business since 1996 and more specifically in the telco industry since 2002.

V Telecoms’ network spans across Peninsular Malaysia, covering all major cities and towns. The available trunk capacity ranges from 10Gbps up to 160Gbps. V Telecoms also owns the only cross-border Metro-E link in Malaysia, giving it a competitive edge against its competitors.
